LIPPER LEADERS RATING (OVERALL)

Total Return	Consistent Return	Preservation	Lipper Leaders Key
①	①	①	Lowest ① Highest ⑤

The Lipper Leaders Ratings System is a set of tools that guide investors and their advisors to select funds that suit individual investment styles and goals. It uses investors-centred criteria to deliver a simple, clear description of a fund's success in meeting certain goals, such as preserving capital or building wealth through consistent strong returns.

Lipper Leader ratings are derived from highly sophisticated formulas that analyse funds against clearly defined criteria. Each fund is ranked against its peers based on the metric used (such as Total Return or Expense), and then the top 20% of funds in that ranking receive the Lipper Leader designation. Lipper Leaders measures are not predictive of future performance, but they do provide context and perspective for making knowledgeable fund investment decisions.

FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

The MSCI Japan Index returned 7.94% in JPY terms in August. During the month, the change in market risk preferences led to a rotation away expensive technology-related stocks towards the kind of underappreciated stocks held in the Fund and this has been supportive for the Fund's performance in the shorter term. Towards the end of the month, however, we observed market volatility around the news flow relating to the resignation of Prime Minister Abe, which may reflect the market response to shorter term political uncertainty.

When valuations move to extremes of both expensive and cheap, any market surprise that challenges the status quo can create a rapid and sizeable shift in prices, and this is what has been recently observed. Year-to-date, valuation dispersion has moved to extremes as investor risk preferences have narrowly focused on the drivers of share price momentum in the market and as a result, pay any price for growth. Although this extreme market behaviour can weigh on strategy performance in the near term, the significant valuation support that can be found more than compensates the strategy for looking through this shorter-term performance headwind and taking a patient longer-term approach to value realisation.

Whilst shorter term market narratives may be driving uncertainty, share price volatility and market preferences, we continue observe improving trend fundamental health in corporate Japan. At a corporate level, we continue to observe some encouraging trends in Japan which have improved the resiliency of the overall market. One factor that may now be in the favour for some Japanese companies is their strong balance sheet health compared with global peers, which may contribute to an ability to fund ongoing operations amid this uncertain global environment. Long term restructuring efforts, including deleveraging of balance sheets, has led to high levels of cash and bankruptcy levels that continue to remain at decade lows. The labour market also remained tight, with the job-offers-to-applicant ratio printing 1.0 in July and unemployment rate printing 2.9% in July. During the most recent results season, we also observed a meaningful quarter-on-quarter recovery of operating and net profit, with earnings for over 60% of Topix companies beating consensus estimates.

Our focus on sustainable earnings differentiates us from a market that obsesses over recently reported earnings. The market's myopic view on recently reported earnings is the source of the local representativeness bias that drives the extrapolation of trends, and ultimately gives rise to herding behaviour.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Based on the Fund's portfolio returns as at 31 August 2020, the Volatility Factor (VF) for this Fund is 20.5 and is classified as "Very High" (Source: Lipper). "Very High" generally includes funds with VF that are higher than 16.705. The VF means that there is a possibility for the Fund in generating an upside return or downside return around this VF. The Volatility Class (VC) is assigned by Lipper based on quintile ranks of VF for qualified funds. VF is subject to monthly revision. The VF for the Fund may be higher or lower than the VC, depending on the market conditions. The Fund's portfolio may have changed since this date and there is no guarantee that the Fund will continue to have the same VF or VC in the future. Presently, only funds launched in the market for at least 36 months will display the VF and its VC.
