FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

The MSCI Japan declined by -10.0% in local currency terms and -11.6% in USD terms in March as the Iran War escalated, and investors digested the implications for domestic and global growth. The Japanese yen depreciated against the USD during the month, despite clear guidance from Bank of Japan (BoJ) Governor Kazuo Ueda on the possibility of foreign exchange intervention. The BoJ kept the policy interest rate unchanged at 0.75% at its March meeting following signs of economic recovery, whilst reiterating that future rate rises will depend on the confirmation of projected inflation and growth amid elevated geopolitical uncertainty. Japan's headline inflation moderated to 1.3% in February from 1.5%, whilst core inflation eased to 1.6% from 2%, reflecting the impact of government utility subsidies and slowing food price momentum. Manufacturing activity remained in expansion territory but cooled down. The S&P Global Japan Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) eased to 51.6 in March from 53 in February, as growth in output and new orders slowed amid rising input costs.
